polycarboxylate ether based superplasticizers in concrete admixtures

polycarboxylate ether based superplasticizers in concrete admixtures can be used in the construction of concrete and mortar. It is used for defense, railway, metallurgy, coal, hydropower and other department of underground engineering and tunnel engineering, rock excavation and mining the seams of the lining. Compared with ordinary concrete pouring, can speed up the construction speed and reduce the cost of the project.

Scope of application:

This series of products are suitable for the construction of underground engineering such as tunnel construction, tunnel construction, water conservancy and other underground projects. The rapid construction and emergency rescue of concrete.

Application Method

- 1) polycarboxylate ether based superplasticizers in concrete admixtures is used to produce high performance, high strength and flowable concrete.
- 2) Dosage of polycarboxylic ether water reducer is determined according to the designated concrete mix through trial mixing.
- 3) polycarboxylate ether based superplasticizers in concrete admixtures is dosed either together with water or after the addition of water. It shows more effective when Poly-carboxylate is dosed after the addition of water.
